Dear Friends,

Yesterday, we began a series of messages introducing our Generosity Campaign to support our ministry in 2022. The theme of our campaign is Enough: Experiencing Joy Through Simplicity and Generosity! This year's campaign is based on Adam Hamilton's book, Enough. Hamilton is the pastor of the United Methodist Church of the Resurrection in Kansas City, Kansas. In that book, I gleaned three defining moments that relate to our generosity in response to the generous nature of our loving Creator. Defining moments are those times in our lives that reveal our true inner nature. For example, in a time of great chaos and stress, we often look to those who are able to stay calm and focused despite the difficulty we're experiencing. Defining moments are those times in which bravery, confidence and intellect are revealed when we face a challenge.

The three defining moments that make up our theme are 1) faith in the midst of difficulty, 2) contentment in the face of a world of materialism and consumerism and 3) generosity in response to God's great generosity.

In addition to our message notes that are a part of our Sunday morning experience, we included an insert to encourage our members and friends to consider their "Generosity Journey." When I'm going to introduce a speaker at our Rotary meetings or in preparation for a memorial, I often try to discover one- or two-word phrases that describe that person. That concept is part of a person's Generosity Journey. Here are the questions that make up the Generosity Journey exploration:

- Who is or was the most generous person in your life?
- How did their generosity impact your life?
- Is "generous" a word others would use to describe you?
- Is generous a word you would like others to use in describing you?
- How specifically have you experienced the generosity of God?

Your answers to these questions can reveal how you feel about generosity and how you've experienced God's generosity. There was a final question on the bulletin asking worshipers if they wanted to share a written testimony of what Central UMC means to them. I want to extend that invitation to all our members and friends. All that is needed is a few sentences. We will share some of those testimonies in our worship service on October 17.

As we enter our Generosity Campaign I encourage you to consider the three defining moments we will explore in worship as well as the questions above that make up a least a part of your "Generosity Journey." Please consider offering a testimony about what Central UMC means to you! As always, I look forward to seeing you in worship! God bless you!

Because of Christ,

-Pastor Jack

The Book of Glory Six Week Study

Thursdays, 6:30–7:30 pm in the Parlor from September 30th to November 18th

Congratulations to Central's 2020 Confirmands and newest members! From I. to r. Rev. Cora, Amelia Foster, Hannah Strobel, Megan Riley, Pastor Jack.

What would you say to the people you loved most if you knew you had only a few days of your life left to be with them? How do you think Jesus approached his death differently than you or I might? Was the moment of Jesus' death a high point or a low point in his life? All of these are questions we will deal with as we study the last days of Jesus' life found in the Gospel of John. Each week we will watch a short video to spark discussion and have a take-home discussion guide for you to dive deeper at home. Contact Rev. Cora at cglass@waterfordcumc.org for more details.

Trunk or Treat Planning and Volunteers

Sunday, October 24th, 4:00–6:00pm

If you'd like to help with our event by serving on the planning team, hosting a "trunk", or helping with the youth group's haunted trail, please contact Rev. Cora at cglass@ waterfordcumc.org. Help us make this a fun and safe event for our whole community.
